

GI'S HEADING HOME

... First Of 25,000 Pull Up Stakes

Saigon (AP) — The first element of 25,000 Americans to withdraw from South Vietnam on President Nixon's orders pulled up stakes Monday with a sendoff from U.S. and South Vietnamese officials.

As the 814 men of the 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry, 9th Division headed home, Viet Cong sappers — specially trained demolition teams — stormed a U.S. military headquarters 120 miles northeast of Saigon, killing six Americans and wounding 18 with grenades and satchel charges. The only known enemy casualties were two dead.

It marked the first enemy ground assault on an American installation in a week, but the U.S. Command declared that it was only "an isolated attack" and said it suggested no important change in the lull that has lasted about three weeks.

The departure of the 814 Americans marked a new direction in the 8½ years of U.S. involvement in Vietnam. It was the first formal reversal of the U.S. troop buildup that once reached 542,000.

The 814 are the advance party of 4,000 men of the 9th Division's 2nd Brigade slated to return to the United States. By the end of August, all of the 25,000 — including another brigade plus headquarters elements of the 9th Division, and 7,500 U.S. Marines, will have left Vietnam. Still more withdrawals are expected to be announced soon.

After a departure ceremony at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base, the 814 fly to McChord Air Force base near Seattle, Wash.

On hand to greet them at McChord will be Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff and former U.S. commander in Vietnam.

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor will be the senior Pentagon official at a welcoming parade for the outfit in Seattle Thursday.

There was speculation that the enemy might try to arrange a sendoff of their own for the American contingents withdrawing over the next six weeks.

Dong Tam, headquarters of the 9th Division and its 2nd Brigade, the Mobile Riverine force, is a favorite target of enemy rocket and mortar crews in the Mekong Delta region.

Extra security precautions were in effect at the base and around Tan Son Nhut. Many more helicopters than usual were to be airborne around Saigon as part of a surveillance effort.

The enemy sapper attack early Monday was aimed at a U.S. Military Assistance Command compound at Luong Son.

COUPLE PROTESTS IN BED

The couple are protesting the United States' refusal to grant a visa to the Beatles' John Lennon and wife Yoko and also the war in Vietnam. They plan to end their bed-in Tuesday after 144 hours.

NAPALM CANNISTERS SCATTERED

Four 300-pound cannisters of napalm lie next to a freeway on-ramp in Long Beach, Calif., Monday after rolling off a truck as it rounded a curve. The napalm, an explosive

City May Signalize West O Intersection

... IF AREA CITIZENS PAY

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

West Lincoln residents and businessmen have apparently won their battle with the city for installation of a traffic signal at the West O St. and Capitol Beach Blvd. intersection.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf recommended that a traffic signal be installed at the intersection if residents pay for the signal.

Mayor Schwartzkopf said he had received a letter from the West O Businessmen's Association and the Lakeview PTA indicating the groups are willing to pay up to $1,500 to get the traffic signal.

Backed By Five

Five council members, when polled on how they would vote on the issue, said they would vote for signalizing the intersection if the West Lincoln groups agree to certain conditions.

Voicing approval were Bill Davidson, Dick Hartsock, Harry "Pete" Peterson, Thomas Allman, and Mrs. Helen Boosalis. Councilman Merle Hale declined to comment on how he would vote on a resolution approving the traffic signal.

City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger has recommended against signalization of the intersection.

Down On List

Holsinger said funds should not be appropriated during the coming fiscal year for signals because the intersection is far down on a priority list.

He also had asserted that signalization would likely lead to rear end collisions.

Mayor Schwartzkopf said, "there is a need for signalization" and that signals should be installed if the people are willing to pay for them.

Agreeable

The mayor and city council members said they were agreeable to accepting money on the condition that the traffic signal be taken out if an increase in rear end collisions occurs.

Mrs. Boosalis said another condition should be that the city reduce the speed limit on West O St. in that area.

City Public Works Director Robert Obering pointed out that the city "never before has accepted money from groups who want traffic signals installed."

"We have previously said 'no' to others who have offered to pay for signalization," Obering said.

The public works director said he recommends against taking money because the decision "could come back and haunt you."

Davidson said he could not see anything wrong with accepting the money since "these groups willingly know that we can take these signals away."

"This would be one way to get signals installed for which we do not have funds," he said.

Mayor Given Salary Boost

Without any discussion, the Council voted Monday to give Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf a $925 raise for the next fiscal year.

The new $18,250 salary will become effective Sept. 8.

The ordinance to increase the salary also received no opposition during a public hearing held prior to the council's unanimously approved.

The pay increase will permit Corporation Counsel Ralph Nelson and City Public Works Director Robert Obering to receive a 5% merit increase, according to Personnel Director Walter Mitchell.

Voters this year had rejected a charter amendment by 632 votes—11,615 for and 12,247 against — which would permit department heads to make more than the mayor.

Both city officials were making slightly less than the present $17,325 salary of the mayor.

Nixon To Ask For Expanded Unemployment Compensation

©The New York Times

Washington — President Nixon will ask Congress Tuesday for an expanded system of unemployment compensation with higher benefits.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the message would probably be released Tuesday morning. He would not discuss the proposals but informed sources were able to provide details.

The message, they said, will ask Congress to add 4.8 million low-income workers to the insurance system.

Improvements

It will also urge individual states — which set benefit levels — to improve benefits so that four-fifths of all covered workers would receive the equivalent of at least half their wages when they are unemployed.

Nixon has therefore apparently rejected the advice of some of his aides to ask Congress to establish federal minimum standards as a floor under unemployment benefits.

Instead he will ask the states to act on their own to raise benefits within the next two years so as to avoid imposed federal standards.

But the threat of federal standards at some point in the future is said to be implicit in the message.

Affect One-Fourth

The expanded coverage will affect more than one-fourth of the 17 million potentially convertible workers who are presently excluded because of special exemption in the federal unemployment tax and state laws.

Among those excluded from coverage by the original Social Security Act of 1935, which created the legal framework for the unemployment compensation system, were farm and farm processing workers, workers in nonprofit religious, educational and welfare organizations and domestic servants.

The proposal to establish federal minimum standards commanded strong support in the White House but has aroused controversy among some governors.

Reduce Burden

The reason is that the system is financed largely by employer contributions, and some states have deliberately kept benefit levels low in order to reduce the burden on employers and thus make their states more attractive to industry.

Ziegler also announced that Nixon would make a major announcement on Thursday on the subject of rising medical costs. (See story on Page 15.)

This was one of a number of topics discussed at a 90-minute meeting Monday between the President and his secretary of health, education, and welfare, Robert H. Finch.

Unicam Advances Host Of Salary Hike Bills

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Monday gave its tentative blessing to salary increases for a host of state and judicial officials, but became entangled in an indecisive debate over salary minimums for county officials.

All told, lawmakers advanced 10 salary bills from the first stage of floor consideration and held two others for further discussion.

Also handed first round approval were measures to increase mileage rates and food allowances for county sheriffs and establish a motor pool for state government.

Up To $25,000

Leading the way among salary proposals was LB572, which would increase the governor's wage from $18,000 to $25,000 a year. It gained 27-5 endorsement.

As with other salary measures, the pay increase would not become effective until the beginning of the next gubernatorial term of office.

Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln, sponsor of the bill, noted that 280 state employees now receive as much or more in salary than the governor.

Only Arkansas, Idaho and New Mexico pay their chief executive a lower salary, he pointed out.

Give Judges Hike

Other bills receiving initial approval would boost salaries of State Supreme Court judges from $20,500 to $25,000 a year, and increase salaries of District Court and Juvenile Court judges from $18,000 to $22,000.

Municipal court judges in Lincoln and Omaha would be hiked from $15,000 to $19,000, and judges of the Workmen's Compensation Court would be increased from $16,000 to $20,000 a year.

The attorney general's salary would be boosted from $16,000 to $21,500, while the secretary of state would receive $15,000 instead of the current $12,500.

State liquor commissioners would jump from $9,000 to $10,500 a year.

Other Boosts

Other approved salary bills would increase District Court reporters from $10,000 to $11,000, hike the salary of bailiffs in counties of not more than 60,000 from $8 to $10 a day, and remove the statutory limits on the pay of Municipal Court judges and clerks in cities of less than 40,000.

Lawmakers became embroiled in a lengthy discussion over another salary bill which would raise the minimum wage for county officials.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff won approval for an amendment giving special compensation consideration to county assessors.

At Least $9,000

Under the amendment, assessors in all counties over 16,000 population would be guaranteed a salary of at least $9,000. The within the 5% increase "guideline" set by the Legislature's Budget Committee.

Cost Key People

Peru College President Neal Gomon predicted the budget limitations on faculty salaries "will cost us some key people — not this year but next year they'll start looking elsewhere."

Dr. Gomon also suggested Peru's accreditation with North Central may be jeopardized unless supplemental funds are made available for certain improvements at the college.

Representatives of the other three colleges indicated the effect on the new budget in faculty resignations would not be felt until the 1970-71 school year.

Halt Test Case

The board agreed not to proceed with a test case on a $2.5 million revenue bond issue for Wayne State College pending the outcome of a bill (LB1395) before the Legislature.

The legislative measure with proposed amendments would give the Board of Trustees the status of a public corporation like the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

Nebraska has a $100,000 debt limitation, and constitutional questions have been raised regarding revenue bond funding of dormitories and student centers at the state colleges.

Advice Of Counsel

The board acted on the advice of its special counsel, Bert Overcash of Lincoln, but Don Pettis of Omaha, bond consultant, advised that New York bond counselors may still insist on a court test to settle the constitutional question regardless of the fate of LB1395.

The next regular meeting of the board was scheduled for Sept. 8 at Kearney.

approved scale provided for a $12,500 salary in Lancaster County, and $20,000 in Douglas County.

Under the amended bill, LB580, which will receive additional consideration Tuesday, minimum wages for other county officials would be hiked to $5,500 in the smallest counties and to $8,000 in the largest counties other than Douglas and Lancaster.

Carpenter said better salaries might help "upgrade" the office of assessor. Many assessors now "do a lousy job" and accord favorable treatment to large property owners, he declared.

Up Allowances

LB1187, approved on a 23-8 vote, would increase transportation allowances for sheriffs from 10 to 15 cents a mile and boost food allowances for prisoners from $2 a day generally to $2.50.

The motor pool proposal, contained in LB1320, which would establish a transportation services bureau in the Department of Administrative Services, gained 26-6 advancement.

Soviets Ships To Visit Cuba

Moscow — Tass, the Soviet press agency, announced that a Soviet naval squadron will pay "a friendly visit" to Cuba from July 20-27. The timing of the announcement led many diplomats in Moscow to consider the visit sort of "retaliation" for President Nixon's planned stop in Communist Romania on August 2.

Clergyman Ordered Executions

Bonn — The Roman Catholic Auxiliary

Bishop of Munich, the Most Rev. Matthias Defregger, was publicly identified as the captain of a wartime anti-partisan Germany army unit in Italy who delegated an order for the execution of 17 unarmed Italian villagers in Filetto Di Camarda on June 7, 1944.

Kenyatta Calls Meeting

Nairobi, Kenya — Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta called for emergency meeting of his cabinet to discuss the country's deteriorating security situation while police continued their non-stop effort to find the killer who assassinated Economics Minister Tom Mboya last Saturday.

Italian Party Withdraws

Rome — Italy's small, elite Republican Party withdrew from a governing coalition with the Socialist and Christian Democrat Parties and blamed those two political groups for causing Italy's worst political crisis through internal feuding. The Republican Party newspaper attacked the inability of the left-wing leaders to focus on the real problems of government.

Desegregation Suits Filed

Washington — The Nixon administration, in a prompt follow-up of its latest statement on racial discrimination in schools, filed two desegregation suits and cut off financial aid to three school districts. The new suits, making a total of nine for the Nixon administration, were understood to be the first of at least six to be filed this week. (More on Page 2.)

Showdown On ABM Set

Washington — The stage was set for a showdown fight in the Senate on the administration's Safeguard missile defense system as both the White House and its Senate opponents showed no sign of a changing position. (More on Page 2.)

Farm Payment Ceiling Rejected

Washington — Upholding the recommendation of its agriculture committee and the Nixon administration, the Senate rejected a proposed ceiling of $20,000 on federal farm payments to any one farmer. The Senate also agreed to add $5 million to the $10 million provided in the bill for a special child nutrition program. (More on Page 15.)

Expansion To Be Sought

Washington — President Nixon is expected to ask Congress Tuesday for an expanded system of unemployment compensation that could add more than four million low-income workers to the system and include federal minimum standards as a floor under unemployment benefits. (More on Page 1.)

Charles Evers New Mayor

Fayette, Miss. — Several hundred Negroes and an assembly of national figures cheered Charles Evers as he was sworn in as mayor of Fayette, Miss., thus becoming the first Negro mayor of a biracial municipality in Mississippi since Reconstruction. Evers promised "a clean and righteous town" where whites and blacks will want to live and work. (Picture on Page 2.)

Federal Funds Cut Off From School Districts

Washington (AP) — The Nixon administration announced Monday a cutoff of federal funds to three southern school districts and filed desegregation suits in both the North and South.

The actions served to carry out steps forecast last week when the administration eased rigid timetables for complete public school integration but promised stepped up legal action to speed desegregation and warned that more funds cutoffs could be expected.

The funds cutoff involved the Flagler County Board of Education in Florida, the Wayne County Board of Education in Georgia and the Orangeburg School District

No. 4 (Edisto) in South Carolina.

'Shall Continue'

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch said "we shall continue to keep the door of communications open with these school districts and hope to provide all assistance necessary to help bring them into compliance with the law."

In the first of several scheduled legal actions, the government attacked a freedom-of-choice plan that it said had failed to eliminate racial segregation in the school system of Barnwell County, S.C.

A few hours later, it sought in another suit to end racially segregated teacher assignments in Madison County, Ill., the first school district outside the South to become a target of a Nixon administration lawsuit.

Three actions in the North and two in the West were instituted by the Johnson administration.

Raised To Eight

The two actions raised to only eight the number of school desegregation suits filed so far by the new administration in its first six months. Under President Lyndon B. Johnson 125 suits were filed last year.

ABM Goes To Senate

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon's proposal to deploy the Safeguard Anti-Ballistic Missile System went to the Senate and an uncertain fate Monday. The leadership agreed to carry on sensitive parts of the debate behind closed doors.

Floor debate probably will begin Tuesday on a $20 billion military procurement authorization bill containing $345.5 million for initial deployment of the controversial ABM, which opponents warned might prove to be a multibillion-dollar waste of money.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called it "the most important bill to come before Congress this session." He said debate could last the rest of the month. "There are a lot of pent-up speeches waiting to be delivered," he said.

Proposal Accepted

Mansfield accepted a proposal by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, to present "extremely sensitive" information about weapons systems in secret Senate session. To discuss such matters publicly, said Stennis, "would be of great benefit to our adversaries."

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a leading ABM opponent, reserved the right to bring "the most secret information" of his own to the floor during this period.

"Nothing will be withheld," he said. "The more senators who know about ABM, the more senators will oppose deployment." He accused the Defense Department of trying to "win by secrecy what cannot be won by public debate" about the ABM.

Opponents Speak Out

The bill was cleared by the Senate Armed Services Committee, which voted 10 to 7 last week in favor of deploying the Safeguard. Published Monday was a minority report signed by Democratic

Nixon-Astronauts Date Called Off

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 11 astronauts practiced blasting off from the moon and linking up with the command ship Monday as they began final training for next week's journey to the moon.

Meanwhile, extreme measures to protect the astronauts' health reached even to President Nixon, who canceled plans to dine with them the night before they leave for the moon.

The decision not to have Nixon join the moonmen at dinner July 15 came after Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, expressed concern the crew might catch an earthly illness from the President that would complicate the lunar landing mission.

Precautions Set

Doctors of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have been especially careful about trying to keep the astronauts in good health.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters in Washington, D.C., that Nixon will not attend the dinner "based on the NASA thinking on this matter."

Rested after a July Fourth

Open Warfare Said Resumed On Canal

United Nations (UPI) — Secretary General Thant said Monday that "open warfare has been resumed" along the Suez Canal where Egyptians and Israelis have exchanged fire for 86 consecutive days. He said it was history's most "complete and sustained" disregard of a U.N. cease-fire order.

In a special report to the Security Council, Thant, who entered a New York hospital Monday for treatment of an acute inflammation, threatened to withdraw the seven-nation U.N. truce observation force now patrolling the canal.

"They cannot be expected to serve as what amounts to defenseless targets in a shooting gallery," Thant said. "Become Routine"

"The pattern of acts of violence and reprisal, including a pronounced increase in aerial activity, has become almost routine," Thant said. "The fact that many of these activities are announced by the parties themselves implies a tacit recognition by them that the cease-fire demanded by the Security Council in June 1967 to all practical intents and purposes, has ceased to be respected in the Suez Canal sector...

Egyptians Try To Capture Bunker

By United Press International

A contingent of Egyptians troops stormed across the Suez Canal Monday night and tried to capture an Israeli bunker opposite the town of Ismailia but were driven back after losing three men, Israel announced. In the air, Israel said it downed two Egyptian planes while Egypt said it shot down one Israeli fighter.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv did not mention how many Egyptian soldiers crossed the waterway Monday night but said "the Israeli defenders repulsed the attack and the Egyptian force retreated back across the canal leaving behind three dead."

Only 5% Of Wheat Crop Harvested; 40% Is Ripe

... Dampness Delays Cutting; Hail Damages Fields

By United Press International
The maturity of Nebraska's wheat crop remained slightly behind normal with the harvest just getting under way in the southern counties, crop observers reported Monday.

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said 90% of the crop is turning, 40% is ripe and 5% has been harvested.

Normally at this time of the year 60% of the crop is ripe and 30% has already been harvested.

The service said cool damp weather has slowed some of the harvest and scattered locally severe hail has caused some damage.

Injuries Fatal For Billy O'Brien; Services Tuesday

Lincoln Star Special

Kearney—Funeral services for Billy O'Brien, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien of Kearney, will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Nielsen Mortuary.

The youngster died Saturday, nearly a month after he had suffered what had appeared to be minor injuries in an accident at his home.

His physician said the boy became ill Saturday and died the same day in a hospital. The doctor said an autopsy showed death had been caused by "latent internal bleeding."

The boy had been hospitalized June 12 for treatment of bruises suffered when two large acetylene tanks fell on him from a cart. He was released the following day.

In addition to his parents, the child is survived by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lizer and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Brien, all of Kearney.

Hearing Slated On Omaha's Proposal For City Sales Tax

Omaha (AP) — A public hearing on a proposal to levy a one-half cent sales tax in Omaha will be held by the City Council on Tuesday. Under the proposed ordinance the city would begin collecting the tax Jan. 1.

The tax would be applied to all items on which the state sales tax is now collected.

It is estimated that the tax would raise between $5 million and $5.5 million a year.

Under a new state law, the state would act as the collection agency.

The council also will receive a proposed 1970 budget which could call for an increase in property taxes.

Mill Levy Hike Expected

Finance Director Edwin Hewitt's budget is expected to recommend that the city's overall levy next year be set at 25.6 mills, or $23.60 per $1,000 of assessed value. This would be an increase of 1.1 mills over the 1969 levy. Such a levy based on current valuation would yield about $19.8 million in taxes.

This year's budget totaled $43,145,344 but the 1970 proposal in dollars has not been made known.

Blaze Claims 6 Of One Family

Chicago (AP) — Seven persons, including a mother and five of her children, were killed Monday in a fire that raced through the upper floor of a building that city officials said was reported twice this year for building code violations.

Only four of 10 members of one family who lived in the six-flat apartment building on the South Side survived. Five other families were evacuated.

Inspections twice this year by the building department revealed a number of building code violations in the 60-year-old brick structure.

Food Radiation Project Halted For More Study

Washington (AP) — The once-heralded use of radiation to extend the shelf life of foods has been shelved by the Agriculture Department.

An order to meat packers last week followed an earlier determination by the Food and Drug Administration that gamma radiation needed more study as a preservative process for meat products such as canned bacon.

Bacon was the last product authorized for radiation testing.

A decade ago the Army, with co-operation of the Atomic Energy Commission launched an ambitious food irradiation project.

Sample quantities of a variety of foods were treated and test eaten. High military officials pronounced the radiated rations tasty, but lower ranking military people were less enthusiastic.

Irradiated food was never produced in commercial quantities. Now the government says more data on possible health hazards will be required before it will approve production for general consumption.

Over 19,000 In State Used Food Stamps

By The Associated Press

More than 19,000 persons in Nebraska received food assistance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's food stamp program during May, according to Dennis M. Doyle of Chicago, midwest district director of consumer food programs.

The total included 11,932 persons on public assistance and 7,239 other low income persons. Frontier County joined the program.

During May participants in 66 Nebraska projects received coupons worth nearly $380,000 of which almost $128,000 were bonus coupons. This was a bonus average of $6.66 per person.

By participating in the food stamp program, low income families can buy more food by exchanging the amount of money they normally spend on food for coupons worth more than they paid

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It wasn't exactly good news to read in The Star yesterday morning about the curtailment of plans by the University of Nebraska to acquire additional land for its downtown campus. While some $2 million went into land purchases the past biennium, only $200,000 will be available in the new biennium if university appropriations stand as now programmed.

One explanation for this is that $3.5 million is scheduled for appropriation for the purchase of land at the Medical Center in Omaha and the University of Nebraska at Omaha campus. Thus, the $2 million land purchase request for the Lincoln campus has gone down the drain.

We understand perfectly that the Legislature cannot do everything at once. As the situation now stands, the tax rate at the state level is bound to go up and perhaps by a substantial margin. But this doesn't solve the problem.

This is like saying the reason a man is starving to death is that he has no money to buy food. That cannot be accepted as the end of the story. You have to do something to eliminate the problem and provide food for the man.

This is what we have to do on the university's downtown Lincoln campus. We have to figure out some way of making the acquisitions that are needed.

It would be well if the Legislature could establish an interim study committee on the subject of future NU land acquisitions. The committee could also give a serious look to the matter of new athletic facilities for the campus.

For a long time, Nebraska has needed a new field house and coliseum. In visiting with Sports Editor Hal Brown, we learned that Nebraska is nearly last in this area of things in the Big Eight.

The existing field house and coliseum are inadequate in just about all regards. The field house could continue to serve, if necessary, as dressing-room facilities for varsity football but it is too small and too badly lighted for use as a practice area for varsity athletics.

The coliseum has long been outdated, with its capacity limited from a physical size point of view as well as for the sake of adequate fire protection. Additionally, it is lacking in a host of other respects.

Again, we learn from the sports department that many colleges are turning to combination structures which can handle a variety of things, including intramural sports. Nebraska has talked about such a complex but has made no progress toward it.

The athletic situation involves money for building, of course, as well as money for land acquisition. The two are closely enough related that they could be considered together.

We should accelerate our efforts in this area for a number of reasons. For one thing, we need a plan of development if we are to proceed intelligently. The university has had plans in the past and is reportedly updating them now but they need the active participation of the Legislature.

An interim study committee could provide the close relationship with the Legislature that the university needs on this subject.

Also, the longer we wait, the more costly becomes our future growth. Nothing seems to get any cheaper as time goes by and property is no exception.

Additionally, the university is involved in areas that are key elements of the city as a whole. The city can carry out no programs unless and until it knows exactly what the university is going to do. We don't believe we can afford at this time to arbitrarily stop university land acquisition and just rely on the future's taking care of itself.

Dirksen Takes Care Of Peoria Law Firm

WASHINGTON — Senator Dirksen's dramatic talents have been widely noted. His expediency practiced behind the scenes. One evidence of Dirksen expediency is his steadfast opposition to proposals that senators file their financial statements with the secretary of the Senate.

"Now it is proposed that I be reduced to a Class B citizen," Dirksen thundered when the financial statement matter came up for Senate debate. "I did not give up my citizenship when I came to the Senate. I do not propose to do so now."

Three times the Senate has voted on filing financial statements and three times the basso profundo from Illinois has cast his dramatic voice and vote in the negative.

There's a good reason why Ev Dirksen voted no — his Peoria law firm.

The firm's lineup of clients is impressive. It includes International Harvester, International Paper, Pabst Brewing, Pepsi-Cola Bottling of Peoria, State Farm Insurance, Mid-States Steel and Wire, Keystone Steel and Wire, Brass Foundry, National Lock and some two dozen others. They span a wide range of industries, banking and insurance.

The fact that these corporations went all the way to Peoria to seek legal counsel may simply speak well for the talents of the firm. Yet the question of what the law firm, through the Senate Republican leader, can do for these clients is inescapable.

And Dirksen's behavior on the Senate floor has increased this speculation. When he battled against highway beautification and for billboards, there was an unkind suspicion that he was chiefly concerned over Pabst Beer and Pepsi-Cola billboards.

When he fought against the truth-in-lending bill, there-was a suspicion that he had his law firm's bank and savings and loan clients in mind.

When Dirksen permitted drug lobbyists to use his office, write his speeches and prepare his legislation on the subject, one of the major contributors to the Republican party, Olin Mathieson, owner of Squibb, must have been highly pleased.

There have been very concrete illustrations of how Dirksen helped certain law clients. Specifically it was Dirksen who tacked an amendment on the foreign aid bill, blocking aid to countries that did not pay debts owed to American citizens.

Dirksen indicated that he had in mind a "contractor and an architect who were owed around $2,900,000 by Haiti." What he did not mention was that the contracting firm was Lankton, Ziegler, Terry and Associates and that they were the clients of his Peoria law firm.

The Senate listened and voted the way Dirksen proposed.

House Ruled By Law

Speaking back in Nebraska, Rep. Robert Denney has taken issue with the U.S. Supreme Court decision which denied the House the right to oust Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. According to Denney, the decision strikes "at the heart of Congress' ability to govern its own household."

That, however, is not the whole question. The House can still govern its own household, but only in the manner prescribed by law. All the high court said was that the House could not, by a simple majority vote, disenfranchise an entire group of people by throwing out their representative.

The Constitution provides for qualifications for service in the House. Those qualifications are age (25), citizenship and residency. Beyond that, the House can expel and discipline a member for serious breaches of responsibility but only by a two-thirds vote of its members.

Thus, the House has not been denied the right to govern itself, but is only required to do so according to law. In the case of Powell, the House did not follow the proper procedures if there were, indeed, sufficient grounds for his expulsion.

We do not believe that the rights of the people take second place to the rights of elected representatives. The House should not be allowed to set itself above the people and to say whether one segment of the electorate is properly represented or not, except under grave circumstances. The high court did what every voter should have wanted it to do.

Ag Officials Charged

Ralph Nader, the crusading consumer protection advocate who has made targets of the auto industry and the Federal Trade Commission among others, now is leveling his sights on the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

He accuses top USDA officials of suppressing reports critical of meat-processing plants and failing to push for compliance with meat inspection laws. He also assails state agriculture department officials for remaining "as obstinate as ever in seeking to retain their power without shouldering the responsibility of their so-called authority."

Nader's remarks might also apply to the Nebraska Legislature, which must this session decide to pass a meat inspection bill with federally approved standards or allow the federal government to assume total responsibility for meat-processing inspection. The Wholesome Meat Act of 1967 requires state compliance by December of this year and it is here that Nader charges federal and state officials with footdragging.

In addition, he says that meat with a federal stamp is being marketed across state lines by 150 meat-processing plants even though not one of the plants passed federal standards. And USDA officials responsible for consumer protection have kept reports confirming the fact secret.

Why? Because the meat-packing industry is a far more potent force than the average consumer taken alone, credit is due Nader, again, for alerting the consumer to gross irresponsibility on the part of officials who should be responsible.

Nixon Abandons Fence for Conservative Side; Desegregation, Voting Rights Action Indicative

WASHINGTON — The famous high-wire balancing act of the great prestidigitator, Richard M. Nixon, is ended. It was an impressive act while it lasted, confusing both friends on the right and doubters on the left.

The Nixon administration in a whole series of moves has come down on the conservative side. The President won the nomination and the election with a Southern strategy. He is following a Southern strategy today, the appeal being to the entrenched hard-liners of the South.

These are the men who control the powerful committees in Congress. They can smooth the way for Nixon programs pared to their prejudices. That, and a gain in Republican seats in the House from the South next year, may be the goal of the President as pragmatist.

The on-again, off-again hassle over the appointment of Dr. John M. Knowles to a key position in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, with the climactic reversal at the end, was not nearly as important as other decisions. This was a tactical blunder that made no sense at all.

Extending the school desegregation deadlines in the South and trimming the voting rights act to the pattern of the Southern establishment were clear signals of direction and clearly understood by the defenders of things as they are. HEW Secretary Robert Finch insists he has won and the South, after all, may not get another year of grace. Attorney General John N. Mitchell discovered that Republicans were more indignant over his voting rights "compromise" than were Democrats. But equivocation will not blunt the thrust of these moves.

In foreign policy the Romanian visit, to say the least, has a curious look. At the time of the announcement, a White House adviser made a remark that may have been only partly serious and which was quickly shushed. "After all, we had to refuel somewhere on the return trip." While the meaning of this transitory gesture is still uncertain, it is being widely read as notice of rebuke to Moscow.

Given the hard-nosed opposition to any reduction in the barriers around East-West trade, the stop in Bucharest has little substantive meaning. It is as though Premier Alexei Kosygin or President Nikolai Podgorniy should make a state visit to Peru, with the Peruvians defying Big Brother to the north. The whole journey — six countries in 12 days — is the script for a television spectacular that will fade in significance as the image fades from the screen.

Having delayed completion of a negotiating position on the nuclear arms talks with the Soviet Union for six months, the White House has appointed an advisory commission likely to be dominated by hard-liners. William J. Casey, chairman of a committee propagandizing for the anti-ballistic missile, and Paul Nitze, former deputy secretary of defense and a highly articulate advocate of ABM, are conspicuous. They are offset to some degree by Cyrus Vance, James R. Killian and other moderates opposed to ABM. Yet, the net effect of the commission, if it has any effect at all, could be to fence in Director Gerard C. Smith of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Now, all of this may add up to the pragmatist's prescription for winning in the congressional elections next year and consolidating a victory stance for 1972. The country is moving to the right, alienated by both black and white extremists, and nothing can check the trend that Mr. Nixon, as an astute opportunist, knows so well how to exploit.

A comic aspect of this solemn assumption is sup-

Gun Laws

Calico Rock, Ark.

As a retired police official of over 20 years, a former member of the New York State Police, attached to the FBI office in Albany, N.Y. from 1939 to early 1942, then commander of a naval vessel during World War II, a marshal and deputy sheriff in Wyoming for five years, and now disabled from injuries suffered in World War II, I came home the evening of July 3 and sat down to enjoy the pleasant of my home, and opened my latest copy of "The American Rifleman."

It was with a feeling of nausea and utter disbelief that I read the statement that although the Legislature of the fair and neighboring state of Nebraska had passed a bill "which would have permitted citizens to use whatever means necessary to protect themselves, their families, their property from criminal acts," Governor Norbert T. Tiemann had the colossal temerity to veto such a proposal.

Daily the Tiemanns and Dadds (Conn.) are depriving us of our inherent rights. I refer to Article II of the Bill of Rights. The Tiemanns and Dadds and their ilk (increasing at an alarming proportion) have forgotten Bunker Hill, the entire American Revolution, the Civil War, etc. They have forgotten that 39 persons in New York City a few years ago watched a murderer stab with a knife (not a gun) a helpless woman and none had the courage sufficient to intervene nor call a policeman, even though the murderer returned to the scene later and completed the job. They have also forgotten the fact that a short time ago another nut with a knife, not a gun, stabbed several nurses to death.

After reading of Governor Tiemann's veto, I retched. When Russia decides to take over the U.S., she will not have to fire a shot. The Tiemann and Dodd clan will have paved the way. It is incongruous that an entire Legislature can pass a measure reflecting the will of the people and that an elected executive can with a clear conscience veto same.

If the people of Nebraska do not impeach this sad governor, and if they re-elect him, they deserve what they can expect of him.

In the states where we have no gun laws, we have fewer crimes. When guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns.

I agree with "V.B." about

David Eisenhower's "job" in Senator Hruska's office. Someone wrote, attempting to justify this political gesture by the senator by mentioning "jobs" that the Johnson sons-in-law have. At least they served their country in every way expected of them; they didn't hide out like many prominent young men of wealth.

There was an ambassadorship for this boy's father, who was paid by the Army to be his father's secretary. General Eisenhower wrote several books and did not have to pay capital gains tax from the money he made. The Eisenhowers have had free hospital care all these years, paid for by the working people, and "we" even paid for the elaborate funeral to the tune of $259,734 (according to Capper's Weekly). We are rapidly getting to a two-class system — rich and poor — headed by royalty.

Mrs. Clark stated that President Johnson was given $375,000 to spend on the transfer to private life. He spent just $52,000. Mr. Nixon was allowed the same amount and he spent $425,000, appropriating $50,000 of Mr. Agnew's allowance. Ridiculously, it cost $900,000 for the transfer and Mr. Nixon spent nearly half, leaving Agnew a mere $25,000 to move his "papers." And so many people living in hovels, and millions hungry!

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write about round worms. My baby girl, 22 months old, had a terrible fever accompanied by an attack of vomiting, and coughing and sneezing, and she finally passed a long round worm. Do these worms cause any type of skin rash and itching? The doctor said she was also low in iron, but is giving her medicine and said her appetite and weight would improve. How long does it take for the worms to leave? Do adults have them? Since she has been getting medicine, her rash seems to be getting better. —Mrs. B.

Consider yourself fortunate to have discovered the worm; treatments will take care of the situation.

The question, however, is where she got the worm. It means that she swallowed a round worm egg and it hatched. Since the egg is quite resistant to ordinary temperatures, it can remain a potential hazard for quite some time lurking, perhaps, in the carpeting.

Round worms can infect adults, too, and you may have a carrier in the household. Stool examination, seeking round worm eggs, should be made. Any carrier in the home must be treated; otherwise continued infection is going to be a problem.

Round worm infection can cause cough, rash, anemia, poor appetite, and even pneumonia.

However, now that you have the trouble identified, you should see rather prompt improvement in your little girl's health. It may take a week or more, with perhaps more than one course of medicine to rid the system of the parasite. Once it is gone, health and appetite should improve rapidly, including correction of anemia—that is, the iron deficiency.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a round patch on my cheek that is making me a nervous wreck because I am so self-conscious. It looks like a bruise. I have had it three months. Would you recommend a skin specialist, or can you suggest something to cover it up? I will be 50 in a few months. —A.P.

I can't guess from a description what it might be, but would suggest having a dermatologist look at it — or have your regular physician do so. Most of these blemishes are harmless, but some can be dangerous. So play safe.

Lady, 85, Enjoys Work At Veterans Hospital

By ROBERT PETERSON

Thousands of folks past 65 assume they're on the shelf and out of the race simply because they're retired. But with just a little probing one can find folks in their 70s and 80s still enormously active and useful.

Several readers in the Midwest have written to tell me about a remarkable octogenarian in Kansas City, Kan. She's Mrs. Elsie Steffens, 85, who has given 15,000 hours of service at the local Veterans Administration hospital the past dozen years.

Mrs. Steffens and her husband were in the grocery business for decades. When her husband died, Mrs. Steffens tried to continue running the business, but it proved too involved so she sold out and retired.

But she didn't like sitting around the house. Even though this great-grandmother had nine rooms to clean and a yard to take care of, she found household routines monotonous and lacking in purpose.

When she was 73 years old someone asked if she'd like to do some volunteer work at the Veterans Hospital. She decided to give it a try and embarked on what has become an almost full time retirement career.

She's at the hospital from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.—four to five days weekly. And she's always willing to do whatever is asked of her—carrying trays, mending sheets, making bandages, arranging flowers, running errands. She also helps with office and technical chores such as preparing electrocardiograms for mounting.

She particularly enjoys visiting with patients, joking and joshing with them, showing an interest in their problems, and trying to make them feel life isn't as bleak as it sometimes seems.

Some may assume she lives next door to the hospital and thus finds it easy to work there. But the fact is that the hospital is more than an hour's ride by bus from her home. This means she must rise at 5:30 in the morning and take two different buses to get to the hospital by 8:30 when she reports for duty.

"Of course," she admits, "there are some mornings I don't feel like getting up. But I say, 'Now Elsie, you've got to get up and get going. You don't want to just lie there and get old.'"

Hers is an inspiring saga for it demonstrates what a vast amount of good one lone woman widow in her 80s can do for suffering mankind.

GOVERNMENT STUDY...

According to figures published by the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, "60.5 percent of all college entrants do not graduate." That means that fewer than 6 of every 10 students entering college find their hopes of graduating dashed to the ground.

WHY DOES THIS HAVE TO HAPPEN?

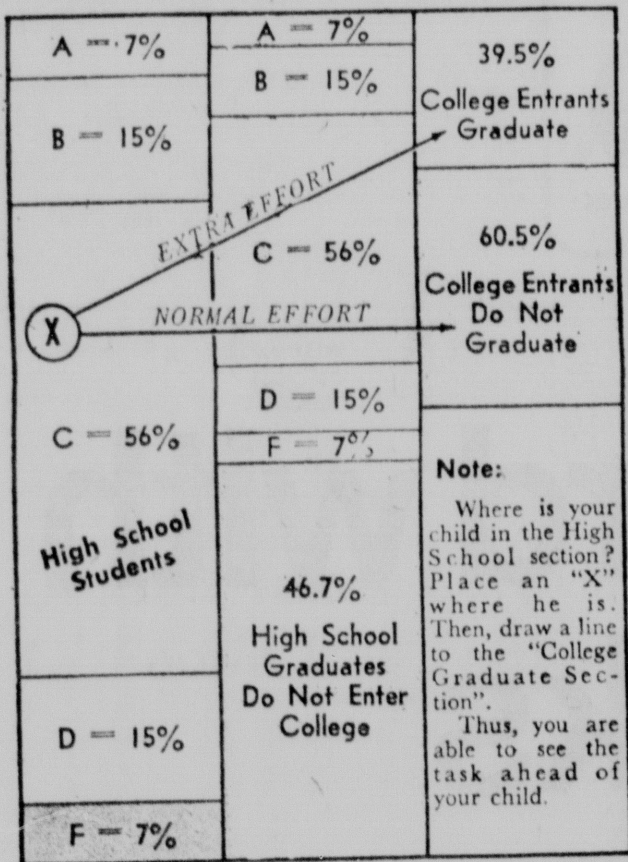

The shift from high school to college is one of the most drastic experience transitions in the life of a young man or woman. In June, he was an adolescent, and was treated as such. In September he is suddenly expected to function as an adult.

The student's test-taking ability, his ability to cope with mountains of new material, are challenged constantly, and from the very beginning of his college career.

The student's ability to grasp new concepts is also given a workout. In college, there is no slowing down the class to explain something to a slow student. College is much more competitive than high school. Almost half of all high school graduates never enter college, and those who do are usually the ones who had better grade averages in high school.

Fast Truck Route Action Urged

City officials were urged Monday to take immediate steps to establish a K and L St. bypass route for trucks presently using the downtown area streets.

Robert Guenzel, representing the Lincoln Center Development Association, made the request during a public hearing on the proposed truck routes for Lincoln.

The K and L St. route is intended to get trucks who have business in the downtown area off O St. between 9th and 17th Sts.

"The signing of K and L Sts. would be the only cost involved," Guenzel told the mayor and City Council.

City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger, who formally presented the truck route plan Monday, said after the meeting that the K and L St. truck route would likely not be used until next June.

He said that the two streets are presently part of a street improvement program which will not be finished until Jan. 1, 1970.

The route involves trucks on O St. using the two one-way pairs of 9th and 10th Sts. and 16th and 17th Sts. as well as K and L Sts.

Guenzel said his group endorses the truck route system — which involves three proposed routes — and hopes that the city will approve and lay plans now to implement the total concept.

Joe R. Seacrest, representing the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce's streets and highways committee, said his committee likewise approves of the truck route proposal.

Seacrest said he agreed with Holsinger that the proposed truck routes should be only a temporary solution to the problem.

He said that eventually an inner and outer bypass system should be in operation concurrently.

Funds to implement the temporary truck route have been included in the 1969-70 budget.

Holsinger said the routes should cost around $67,000 — $50,000 for channelization and $17,000 for signing.

The city traffic engineer said that the signing of the routes must be more than adequate so that trucks using the routes for the first time will not get lost on the truck route system.

He said that 27th St. — a key street in the truck routes — would have to widened before the truck route system could be implemented for through traffic.

Holsinger said that 84th St. might be used rather than 70th St. in the truck route system.

Robert Meyer, traffic engineer with the State Department of Roads, pointed out that the city would have to get permission from the county to use 84th St. in the truck route system.

Meyer said he was not aware of any objections but added that there might be a concern regarding the heavy trucks that would be using the street.

Public Works Director Robert Oberger pointed out that city streets have been breaking up because "the present arterial streets were originally designed as residential streets and not as arterials."

City OKs Day Care Nursery Permit

The Lincoln City Council Monday approved a special permit that would allow a day care nursery school at 39th and Vine Sts. despite opposition from area residents.

Council members voted 5-1 for the special permit with councilman Dick Hartsock casting the only negative vote.

The planning commission had recommended denial of the application made by Robert Bussear for the permit. Commissioners had said that a child care center should not be placed in an area where it is not wanted.

Residents who spoke during a public hearing said property values would decrease, that a nursery school is not wanted in the area and a traffic problem would occur on unpaved 39th St.

A public hearing will be held July 21 on a Class C liquor license for the Pershing Municipal Auditorium, with council action following the hearing.

Council members decided to indefinitely postpone action on an ordinance that would designate Adams St. from the west half of 14th St. to Cornhusker Hwy. and the west half of 36th St. to 70th St. as an arterial St. Residents living along Adams St. between 66th to 70th Sts. protested the designation. It is the only part of Adams St. presently not an arterial.

The council approved an increase in salaries for nurses at Lincoln General Hospital.

Hospital Director Robert Brungard said the increases would put Lincoln General's salaries equal to the other Lincoln hospitals.

Nurses' Salaries Hiked

The ordinance will increase the salary of a registered nurse from $525 to $550 a month. Increases were also given to licensed practical nurses and nurses aids.

The council members also took the following action:

- Approved creation of water district in 16th from A to B Sts.
- Approved sidewalk district creation in north and south sides of Thurston between 71st and point 216.4 feet east of 73rd.
- Approved amended plat of Briarhurst Addition in general area of 40th and Old Cheney Rd.
- Approved creation of job classifications and pay ranges for Programmer I and II, Data Processing Operators Supervisor, Urban Renewal Administrator and Police Matron II.
- Approved definition of "minor" for purposes of alcoholic liquor.
- Approved zoning amendment permitting buildings to 130 feet in height in E Multiple Dwelling District.
- Zoning and Special Permit Reports
- Hear Planning Director Douglas Brogren report on front yard set back requirements for parking lots in central business district.
- Miscellaneous Items
- Hear proposal on televising of City Council meetings over cable television channel nine.
- Placed on file recommendations made by the Region II Crime Commission.
- Decided not to reconsider G Local Business zoning granted to Robert Weigel on land at 70th and O.
- Petitions and Communications
- Referred request for paving in 37th St. from Huntington to St. Paul Ave.
- Referred request for paving, sewer and water in NW1/4 from north half of Lot 1, Blk. 3 to south half of Lot 7, NW1/4 from Lot 1 to Blk. 7, Blks 1 and 2, and southwest line of subdivision to east line of subdivision.
- Referred paving district petitions in district from 44th Street from north half of Cornhusker Hwy. to south end of existing bridge near north half of Turners Add. and in Colfax from 44th to west line of Lot 7.
- Referred request of Harold Thompson for a year extension on sidewalk construction in Linview Add.

Ex-Convict Is Charged In Death Of College Coed In Ann Arbor

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP) — A convicted rapist was formally charged with murder Monday in the death of a 25-year-old University of Michigan coed, the seventh young woman slain in the Ann Arbor area in the past two years.

Police Chief Walter Krasny said he had found "no concrete evidence" to link the defendant, Ernest R. Bishop Jr., 28, to the other slayings.

Bishop was charged with the killing of Miss Margaret Phillips, a B-plus graduate student who investigators said had been trying to aid Bishop in his rehabilitation and who had been doing research into the other killings.

Hearing Set

A hearing to examine the evidence was scheduled for July 16 in Wastanaw County District Court. He was ordered held without bond.

Investigators said Bishop was released from Southern Michigan Prison six months ago after serving a sentence for rape. He was behind bars at the time of two of the six earlier slayings.

Miss Phillips, a sociology student, was killed by a .22-caliber weapon, as were two of the other young women-murdered in the Ann Arbor area.

Police said they did not know why Bishop might have wanted to kill Miss Phillips. No evidence of sexual assault was reported.

Knew Each Other

However, Krasny said it was clear that the sociology student and Bishop knew each other. He said Miss Phillips "had previous contact with Bishop, probably through her interest in social work."

"She was helping him while he was on parole and probably consulted with him on some of his personal problems. She liked to work with minority races."

Krasny said Bishop might have confided to Miss Phillips some information "that he felt could jeopardize his position."

A friend of the coed told police earlier that Miss Phillips had been researching the six previous slayings as a sociological project.

Bishop was paroled last Dec. 27 after serving time for rape. He was released under the supervision of a former University of Michigan sociology professor, Tom Mayer, who asked Miss Phillips to aid in the ex-convict's rehabilitation, Krasny said.

The police chief said an earlier story that Miss Phillips had spoken two words before her death was a ruse invented by the police to bring the killer out. The coed remained in a coma from the time she was shot in the head early Saturday until her death Sunday morning.

Krasny said he did not know if the false story led to Bishop's arrest.

dishes included the eagle in the design.

Parian figures made by the Bennington factory were sometimes made in the shape of an eagle.

One unusual eagle was a tin campaign torch which was probably used during the election of 1860. The two wicks of the torch were lit to provide light for a night time rally. Oil was kept in the body of the eagle which was 10 inches high.

Q. A rag doll is printed on some fabric I found in my grandmother's attic. It has the front, back, and feet of the doll with the words "Dolly Dear." Should I cut out the doll and stuff it or keep it as it is? How old is it?

A. Rag dolls made at the time the fabric was printed are of interest to many collectors. The uncut fabric might be worth more to a collector but if you want a doll, cut and stuff it. The finished doll will not have as much value as the uncut fabric but you might have more pleasure from the doll. "Dolly Dear" was made in Akron, Ohio about 1916.

The eagle glares with stern eyes at the political rally. This type tin eagle torch was used in Harrison's inaugural parade in 1841. It is an oil burning torch painted bronze. (Smithsonian Institution)

DEAR ABBY: I work in the same office with a woman I'll call "Mary." Mary's son is in the service, and his fiancé (I'll call her "Joan") is living with Mary and her husband. Almost every morning Mary brings a letter Joan has written to Mary's son, to be stamped and mailed with the company mail.

Mary routinely opens the letter, reads it, types a new envelope, and sends it on its way. She has also bragged that when Joan has gone out she has read the letters her son has written to Joan. Is there an anonymous way to inform Joan of what is going on?

CO-WORKER

DEAR CO-WORKER: Someone could send Joan this column. And someone should tell Mary that it's not cricket to bring personal letters to an office to stamp and send with the company mail.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please write something in your column about young girls becoming involved with married men? I have reason to believe that my beautiful 18-year old daughter has entered into such a relationship. This man is handsome and charming, but he can offer her nothing but a back street motel romance.

My daughter is pretty and adventuresome, and I regret that our influence is not as strong as it might have been, altho she has never been in any trouble.

Since my information is confidential I cannot very well approach her with warnings and "motherly" advice.

Perhaps a word from you might help. She has read your column faithfully for years.

HEARTSICK MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A "word" from me isn't likely to help much. What she needs is a word from someone who has been down that road and found that it leads to heartbreak alley. If your daughter has read me "faithfully," she will have seen many such letters.

An involvement with a married man is almost without exception the most painful, degrading and hopeless relationship a woman can experience. But unfortunately most women have to learn the hard way.

Opening lead — nine of hearts.

"What can defeat me?" is a question every declarer should ask himself whenever there is even the slightest possibility of defeat. If the answer is that a certain distribution of the missing cards would place the contract in jeopardy, declarer should start looking for a method of play that will overcome such distribution.

Take this deal where South is in six diamonds. Superficially — without seeing the East-West cards — it seems that declarer will make either 12 or 13 tricks.

Undoubtedly that would be the result in the overwhelming number of hands — since the adverse diamonds and clubs would be divided either 2-2 or 3-1 more than 80% of the time.

But South has no right to assume that either or both suits will break favorably, and from the start he should cater to the possibility of a 4-0 division in either suit.

Accordingly, he wins the heart lead with the ace and discards a heart on the ace of spades. He must obviously lead trumps next, and, since there is no way of avoiding a trump loser if either opponent has all four of them, he starts to draw trumps by cashing first the ace and then the queen.

When the diamonds prove to be divided 2-2, South's only remaining concern is a 4-0 club break. He cannot protect against West having the four missing clubs, so he proceeds on the basis that East has them.

He leads the four from dummy and plays the deuce from his hand if East follows low. When West shows out,

B. Jay Becker

South makes the slam after conceding a club trick. Note that declarer goes down if he fails to make the safety play.

If East puts up the ten on the first club lead, South takes the king and returns a low club when West shows out. He can trap East's queen later by crossing to the king of trumps and leading a club from dummy.

KORET OF CALIFORNIA

The marriage of Miss Julie Ann Cosier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Cosier, to Robert James Corner, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Corner of Blue Hill, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, July 5, at the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Glover Leitch read the lines of the service at 2 o'clock.

Frocked in pink georgette and lace and carrying cascade bouquets of white carnations and pink roses were Miss Elaine Schuchman, the honor attendant, and the bridesmaids, Miss Kathy Miller, Beatrice; Miss Nancy Hardin, Washington, D.C.; and Mrs. Steven Latham, Kansas City, Mo.

Serving Mr. Corner as best man was Richard Krueger of Blue Hill, and the groomsmen and ushers included the bride's brother, John Cosier, Berkeley, Calif.; Mr. Corner's brothers, George Corner, Blue Hill, and Roger Corner, Pagosa Springs, Colo.; Nick Lenzen, Richard Chivers and DeLoy Stark.

Floral appliques of peau d'ange lace patterned the bride's gown of white silk organza over taffeta. Designed with a lace yoke which created the high throatline and long fitted sleeves, the gown was completed by a panel train of lace-trimmed organza. Her illusion veil was held by a lace bow clustered with organza flowers, and she carried a crescent of white and pink blossoms.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, where the bride is a senior student, Mr. Corner is a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. Mrs. Corner is a Kappa Alpha Theta.

Suburbia Aims To See America First

"See America First" has become a popular phrase in the United States during the past few years. This is because Americans have come to realize that there are many interesting and beautiful things to visit and see in this country of ours. As always Lincoln residents have been taking advantage of the summer months to plan their vacations and a large number of them have been traveling in the U.S. With the approach of the mid-summer season many of these early travelers are returning to their homes and the suburban areas have been humming with travel news and travel pictures.

What better place is there to learn about American history than in the nation's capitol, Washington, D.C. and today we have news of some travelers who recently returned from there. The travelers were the Lincoln Heights family of Mr. and Mrs. Don Herrington and their four children Shelly, Donna, Julie and Mike. While in Washington, we understand, they visited many of the historic sites.

While much of the nation's history can be found in the east a great deal of it was centered around the Old West and

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Scholl and their three children Lorri, Deanne, and Lonnie recently returned from a two-week vacation in the center of the Old West, the Black Hills. Some of the points of interests that they visited were Mt. Rushmore and the Wall Drugstore. They completed their vacation itinerary with a trip through Colorado.

Not all of the travel news today is concerned with vacations however. We have some news of a Fourth of July traveler, Miss Linda McClure, who returned to her Casino Heights home on Sunday evening following a three day visit in Hastings. While in Hastings Miss McClure visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. V. McClure.

Speaking of the Fourth of July we have

Talk Around The Town

The populace is on the move — to Europe, to the Orient, to Hawaii — and even right here within the boundaries of Lincoln. We can't do any talking about the people who are in London, Hawaii — and those who will be wending their way to the Orient, but we can tell you about a brand new address in Lincoln.

It belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. White and their daughters, Cathy and Beth who now are becoming settled in their new home at 3910 So. 27th St.

And since we are mentioning Mr. and Mrs. White and their new home we'll also tell you that they have a house guest — Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Walter Schmidt of Kewanee, Ill.

We could, of course, do some talking about the summer's brides and their courtships — but we won't — not this morning.

Instead we shall have some conversation about musicians — The Chancellors — a show and dance band that now is filling an engagement in Estes Park, Colo. Our interest in The Chancellors is because, with two or three exceptions, the members of the band all are students at the University of Nebraska.

The band had its beginnings as a four-piece combo in David City seven years ago — but that was then. There now are nine members in the music group — Gary Davis of Omaha, a music major at the University of Nebraska, who plays the trumpet; Christopher Foreman of David City, a student in the College of Engineering at Nebraska, who is the band's drummer; Jim Kreizinger of David City, organ; Bert Marshall of Weeping Water, the group's leading vocalist and who also plays the bass guitar; Rod Svoboda of David City, a political science major at NU, and the trombonist; Steve Klinberg of Laurel who is a music major at NU, and who plays the alto and baritone saxophone; Bob Semrad of Lincoln who plays first trumpet and who is a music major at the University of Nebraska.

Then we come to Keith Goins. He is from Lincoln and is the lead guitar player. We hear that Mr. Goins doesn't pay too much attention to notes since he really some news of how one of the suburban areas helped to celebrate the day.

The residents of Southwood observed the Fourth of July at a neighborhood celebration which began at 4:30 o'clock with a picnic and games. The day's festivities were concluded with a traditional display of fireworks in the evening.

The Eastridge home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bottum will be busy this evening when their daughter Miss Janet Bottum, will be hostess of a party. The guests will include 25 members of Miss Bottum's sorority, Kappa Delta, and the guest speaker will be Miss Jan Williams, of Omaha. Miss Williams returned last week from the Grand Bahamas where she attended the Kappa Delta National Convention.

MISS TRUDI MAE MARTIN

Announcement is made this morning by Mrs. Frances Martin of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Trudi Mae, to John Lee Moon, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moon of Beatrice.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Sept. 13.

Miss Martin is attending the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Moon is a senior at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of the Career Scholars Program in educational psychology, and where he is a member of Epsilon Nu, a teachers college honorary for men.

Jewish Mothers Tired Of The "Shrew" Picture

BY JUDY KLEMESRUD
(c) New York Times Service

New York — Jewish mothers have had it. They are sick and tired of being portrayed as nagging, overprotective shrews in nightclub acts, plays, television shows — and especially in such books as Philip Roth's best seller, "Portnoy's Complaint."

In a series of telephone interviews, a cross section of America's Jewish mothers — young and old, rich and not-so-rich — were asked how they felt about the way they were being depicted in the popular culture these days.

Almost all of the women vehemently denied that they came anywhere near the popular stereotypes of the Jewish Mother. But many of them admitted—albeit grudgingly—that they had friends who might fall into that category.

All in all, the women's consensus seemed to be that Jewish mothers are really no different from any other mothers. Or, as Mrs. Herman Roth, of Elizabeth, N.J., whose son's books stirred up the long-simmering controversy, put it:

"I think all mothers are Jewish mothers."

According to nightclub comedians and a plethora of Jewish authors since World War II, the Jewish mother is a woman who smother her children with love, is constantly screeching "eat!", is ambitious, aggressive and domineering, and wants to be a part of every facet of her children's lives.

"She possesses an omniscience that is expressed only after you make a mistake," observed Shelley Berman, the comedian. "Like if you fall down the stairs, she'll say: 'you see?'"

She is also usually thought of as being obsessed with the idea of success for her children, constantly urging her sons to go into medicine or law, and her daughters to marry men in those or equally well-paying professions.

While the Jewish mother may not exist to many mothers who are Jewish, she does exist to many professionals whose job it is to listen to Jewish peoples' problems.

Those rare mothers who said they thought that the Jewish Mother might possibly exist usually qualified their opinions somewhat.

"It's probably true of a certain segment of Jewish women whose parents came from Europe," said Mrs. Harry Hoffman, of Beverly Hills, Calif., whose son, Dustin, is the actor. "But I don't know anybody like that."

Neither does Mrs. Jacob A. Javits, wife of the New York senator and mother of three. "But if she does exist, I think that what she has for her children is a total love," Mrs. Javits said. "That means a little bit of her life is lived through her children. It stems from the European ghetto attitude of wanting to protect."

Mrs. Jacob Rudd of Maplewood, N.J., whose son, Mark, was a leader of the Columbia University student revolt last spring, said she thought that today's Jewish mothers were a far different breed from their mothers.

"My mother's generation was enveloped with their children," she said. "But today's mothers have many other interests, and are aware of what's going on in the world. We spend less time in the kitchen making chicken soup. At that point Mrs. Rudd burst out laughing. "I did make some chicken soup today," she added. "I'm going to take it over to Mark and the other revolutionaries."

And what made Mark turn out the way he did?

"We never reprimanded him," she said. "He was always a good boy, a model child.

We never sheltered him. When he was 9 years old, we let him travel into New York all by himself."

This same sort of "hands off" policy was also used by Mrs. Isaac B. Mailer and Mrs. Samuel Bernstein, whose sons turned out to be titans in their respective fields.

"I was probably more permissive than most mothers because my son was gifted to begin with," said Mrs. Mailer of Brooklyn, wife of a retired accountant and mother of Norman, who recently won a national book award for his book, "The Armies Of The Night."

"You have to be indulgent with a gifted child," she added, "because otherwise they're thwarted in what they really want to do. We never interrupted Norman when he was doing something."

Mrs. Bernstein, who lives in Brookline, Mass., with her husband, who sold beauty parlor supplies before he retired, said she always "encouraged" — but never pestered — her son Leonard, the conductor; to pursue his studies of music.

"As true as I'm sitting here," she said, "I never had to nag him about his music. In fact, we had to do some nagging to get him away from the piano so he would eat."

"Italian mothers, French mothers, Polish mothers, Scandinavian mothers — they all want the same things for their children," said Mrs. Arthur Goldberg, wife of the former United States Ambassador to the United Nations. "What every mother has to realize is that her children will always say that they should have been raised in another way. But a mother never really knows whether she has raised her children successfully until she sees how their children turn out."

Dinner

A dinner host and hostess on Saturday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Herzog of Bloomfield, who will entertain at the Legionnaire Club in courtesy to their son, James A. Herzog, and his fiancée, Miss Vicki Lee Evans, whose marriage will be an event of Sunday, July 13.

Clusters of white candles lighted the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon, July 5, for the wedding of Miss Barbara Jean Curry of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Curry of Holbrook, and Michael E. Streeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Streeter of Thurman, Iowa. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Clarence Forsberg, and Mrs. Kenneth Coffey of McCook, organist, played the wedding music. The vocalist was Miss Mary Potter.

Mrs. Douglas Curry of Byron, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Linda Peterson, Stromsburg, Miss Diane Strong, Gordan, and Mrs. Joe Beals, Holbrook, were frocked in aqua organza over silk in the daytime length. Their nosegays were fashioned of yellow chrysanthemums.

Serving as best man was Joe Burns, Red Bank, N.J., and Mr. Streeter's attendants included Tom Campbell, Pacific Junction, Iowa; Bruce Ross, Glenwood, Iowa; Gary Thomas, York; Dennis Hall, Thurman, Iowa; and Jim Curry, Holbrook.

The bride appeared in a slender gown of white silk organza trimmed with pearl-embroidered lace, which formed the brief sleeves and yoke. A detachable, court train of organza complemented the gown, and her illusion veil was held by a cluster of pearl-trimmed lace and organza petals. She carried an arrangement of gardenias and yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Streeter will live in Wahoo, where the bridegroom attends John F. Kennedy College. Mrs. Streeter is a former student at the University of Nebraska and a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

POSTCARD

by

Stan Delaplante

"Put an Irishman on a spit and you'll always find another Irishman to turn it," wrote Mark Twain.

It's a windy day in the west of Ireland. We drove around the edges of Galway Bay to Galway town. Only to find it was Early Closing.

All English and Irish towns have Early Closing — one day of midweek when stores close at midday.

In Galway they've made it an unusual Monday. "The labor unions, it is," said the lady in one tiny shop we found open — you could tell she disapproved of unions. "For they want it to be a long weekend, you see."

The seaside suburb of Salt-hill would be open she said. And then began to give me directions. As is custom here for strangers with history thrown in.

"To the bottom of the street, past Lynch's Castle. (It's a bank now, but was once owned by the Lynches of Norman blood and one of them hanged his own son and you can see the window where it was done at the first turning.)"

"Now you can go across O'Brien Bridge — (and a muddering tribe, you'll find do you but read the books). But it's closer if you take the turning to Spanish Parade. (There was great trade between Galway and Spain in the old days. A Galwayman sailed with Columbus. Not many know that.)

"Then take the turning to the right and you'll be on Father Griffin Road. (Him that was murdered by the Black and Tans when the English ruled Ireland. A good Irishman he was. That was enough so they killed him.)"

Salthill is a breezy resort on Galway Bay. And I hurried over to O'Connor's pub. Have things changed in Ireland, I asked?

"The younger priests urge the husbands to bring their wives to the pubs," he said pulling a pump and loading a glass with dark brown Guinness.

"Now the older priests are still against it. For many of them think drink is the curse of the Irish. But the younger ones say it preserves family life."

The miniskirt is not seen much in Ireland. Modesty is preached on Sunday.

In the countryside you see young people wearing the Pioneer badge. The pledge never to drink.

The man in O'Connor's said: "Many an Irishwoman takes a drop now and then. About half of the morning they come in. I'll have a large one against the cold, Mr. O'Connor," they say.

"And down it goes, and them not blinking an eye."

It's been the custom in Ireland for men to go to the pubs while women stayed home and took care of the children.

Sunday afternoon you find half a dozen at the local hotel with a cornered priest.

"Have a bit more tea, Father. Now I remember when Father Doyle was here in the parish. God rest his soul, and he's surely among the glories of heaven now for he was a saint if ever one was. And don't I remember the time he came when my father was dying—"

And so on and on. The bored priest nodding, the voices droning on.

LET'S BE HONEST ABOUT MILK PRICE CONTROL WHO PAYS?

Two new bills in the Nebraska legislative hopper will raise the cost of your dairy products.

LB964 and LB1183—if passed—will set minimum milk prices for all dairies, regardless of method of distribution, regardless of efficiency of operation, regardless of the competition. These bills would further establish a costly advisory committee and staff to police the new laws.

These bills, of course, are supported by the inefficient dairies in this state... dairies that cannot now run their own business and make a profit.

Let them clean up their own houses. Goodrich Dairy welcomes fair competition. We don't need this government "helping hand" that can only be costly to the consumer. Why should they?

We believe in America's free enterprise system.

We believe that good business competition means a better, more economical way of life for everybody.

We believe these bills should not be passed, don't you?

Write your Senator at the Statehouse in Lincoln. Ask him to vote against LB964 and LB1183. If you don't know his name, contact either your election commissioner or your county clerk.

Public Defender Bill Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation providing for a statewide system of public defenders gained lukewarm 25-14 first stage floor approval Monday.

The bill, LB950, provides for a public defender in each of the state's 21 judicial districts as a need is determined in each district by its district court judge or judges.

Public defenders would provide counsel for indigents in criminal cases and in mental health proceedings.

Costs would be fully borne by the state.

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice, chief sponsor of the bill, noted that counties now incur costs of providing court-appointed counsel for indigents in criminal cases.

More Economical

LB950 would provide a more economical and more effective means of handling the problem, he suggested.

A number of lawmakers, all from rural areas, objected to possible costs of the bill.

Sen. Robert Clark of Sidney guessed that costs could reach a million dollars a year.

LB950 provides that the governor would establish the salaries of public defenders within a range of $9,500 to $18,500 a year. The governor would initially appoint each district's defender.

After the original appointment, defenders would be elected to four-year terms.

Douglas County already has a public defender, and Lancaster County is considering establishment of such a position.

Clinic Bonds Opinion Given

By Associated Press

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer said Monday it can not be determined whether a hospital district can issue bonds to build a clinic until an actual situation has been presented and the proposed operation has been defined precisely.

The opinion was written by Deputy Atty. Gen. Gerald S. Vitamvas to answer a question from Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland.

Vitamvas cited a statute enacted by the 1967 Legislature authorizing hospital districts to issue bonds.

The statute does not include the term "clinic." Vitamvas said "but we cannot say, however, that what you may refer to as a 'clinic' is not an essential part of the operation of a hospital within the hospital district."

Special Election Call Not Decided By Vote On Bill

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer held in an opinion Monday that the vote of the Legislature on final passage of a proposed constitutional amendment does not determine if it will be submitted to the electorate at a special election.

A 1968 amendment which permits a constitutional amendment to be submitted to voters at a special election requires the Legislature to "call for a special election," the opinion said.

A three-fifths vote of the Legislature is required to place a constitutional amendment on the regular general election ballot. Under the 1968 amendment, an approving vote of four-fifths of the body can call a special election on a constitutional amendment.

"If a relatively unimportant amendment were approved by a unanimous Legislature, it would be absurd to interpret Article XVI, Sec. 1 (of the Constitution) automatically to require that the public be required to bear the expense and inconvenience of a special election," the opinion said.

Predator Control Assistance Advanced

By Associated Press

Nebraska farmers having problems with predators, especially coyotes and foxes, would be able to obtain special assistance from the state under a bill given first round approval by the Legislature Monday.

LB770 would establish two full-time or three part-time positions of predator control aide in the State Department of Agriculture.

Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt, one of the bill's sponsors, pointed out that 75% of the people in the Midwest who have quit the sheep business have quit because of the predator problem.

Beatrice Sen. Fred W. Carstens expressed concern that the bill which also relates to skunks opossums and starlings would be too broad.

The bill advanced on a 21-14 vote.

Also advanced from general file was the revenue committee's LB1416, creating a $1 million natural disaster fund to help political subdivisions which suffer natural disaster costs too great for them to cope with.

LB1416 advanced on a 33-0 vote.

Haifa — Aliza Ben Haroush, Israel's most prolific mother, has given birth to her 21st child. The Moroccan-born Israeli's husband, Meir, says "at her age, that's enough." She's 46.

Requirements Bill Revival Rejected

The Legislature refused Monday to revive a previously-killed bill changing the age and eligibility requirements for children entering kindergarten or first grade.

At issue was Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen's LB1195. It would have permitted youngsters to enter kindergarten if they turn five before Dec. 31, instead of the present Oct. 15. First graders could start if they become six before Dec. 31, instead of Oct. 15.

Vacation Views

Vacation views of the sporting scene: Kansas football coach Pepper Rodgers went to that 12th man again, but this time he wasn't caught and it produced a victory for him in the Coaches All-American football game.

This time Rodgers' 12th man happened to be wearing a striped shirt, giving Rodgers' West team its first TD even though the ball carrier was clearly stopped short of the goal and setting up the winning TD with a very questionable pass interference call.

Before that game, Pepper had said he was going to find out if it was true that you can't run in all-star contests.

He learned that adage to be true, but another adage was destroyed—the one that says officials don't win football games.

Greene Losing Status

Former Nebraska sprinter Charlie Greene not only continues to lose status as the world's fastest human, but he also is being replaced as the world's most famous quitter.

Kansas miler Jim Ryun has moved to the head of that listing with his number of quittings rapidly approaching his number of finishes.

Ryun's case is a good talking point for those who believe too much pressure is being put on our young people at too early an age in competitive athletics.

Is the fun of sports competition being usurped by other values?

Meeting Their Match

The NAACP and those civil rights groups may be tangling with the wrong man in their suit against Alabama's Bear Bryant, whose record in lawsuits is even better than his coaching record.

If you don't believe that, just check with former officials of the now-defunct Saturday Evening Post, the last people to battle the Bear in the courts.

The Bear may be guilty of what he's been charged with—not recruiting Negroes—but if the NAACP would bother to check around, they might find the recruitment of Negroes has been curtailed by many coaches quietly as a result of problems with Negro athletes of the past couple of years.

Booing Of Greats

The booing of jockey L. J. Durosseau by Ak-Sar-Ben fans Saturday when he finished third aboard Bravoria after winning six straight races brings to mind a thought.

Have you noticed that sport fans never seem to boo the .200 hitters, the 4:20 milers, the second string quarterback, or the jockey who only wins once in 22 mounts?

They only bother to boo Roger Maris when he doesn't hit a home run every time up, Jim Ryun when he doesn't break four minutes every time he runs the mile, Don Meredith when he misses two passes in a row after hitting seven straight and L. J. Durosseau because he didn't win with his horse after winning with six previous horses they didn't bet on.

Booing Durosseau in the eighth race Saturday after what he had done during the week was like booing Joe DiMaggio when his 56-game hitting streak was stopped.

No Indispensable Men

The success of the Philadelphia Phillies after bad boy Richie Allen walked out on them for the umpteenth time should illustrate to everyone the fact that there is no such thing as an indispensable man.

There's the little tale that whenever you begin to think your team or organization can't do without you, stick your foot in a bucket of water, then pull it out.

The hole that's left in the water where your foot was proves how indispensable you are.

—ARCHER 'FEELING HEALTHY'—

Pros Select Player As British Favorite

Lytham St. Annes, England, — George Archer, U.S. Masters champion, played his first practice round Monday for the British Open Golf Championship starting Wednesday, and he did it against doctor's orders.

Archer, a 29-year-old pro from Gilroy, Calif., had been confined to bed for three days with an attack of gastroenteritis and a heavy cold.

"The doctor told me to only practice on the putting green," Archer said. "But I'm feeling so healthy all of a sudden that I must go out there and play."

"You don't win any championships by sitting back and sleeping. And that's what I've been doing for the last three days."

Archer is among 13 Americans, including U.S. Open champion Orville Moody; former U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino; Gay Brewer, former Masters champion; Jack Nicklaus, who has won just about everything worthwhile in golf; and Billy Casper, another former U.S. Open champion.

Gary Player is here to defend his crown and is playing as well as he's ever played.

Most of the top golfers rate Player, the determined and dedicated man from South Africa, as the man to beat.

Player said: "I'm playing as well as I've ever played. I'm pacing myself these days. But I'm the second top money-winner on the U.S. circuit this season."

"I've won $89,000. Only Gene Littler is ahead. There's one thing on these links. You've got to be lucky with a few bounces. There are a few mounds around on the fairways."

Golfers who picked Player as the man to beat for the title-one first competed for 109 years ago — included Nicklaus, Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, Trevino, Gardner Dickinson and Casper.

The South African also won the crown in 1959.

Player finished in the top five in eight of the 12 tournaments he has played in the United States in the last three months. The bookies made the South African the favorite at 5-1 with Nicklaus and Casper 6-1.

Nicklaus, whose putting touch suddenly is returning, said: "The rough here is certainly rough. You can find yourself in a terrible position at one spot and only a few inches away you could be in a perfect position."

Then Nicklaus, who practiced with Player, said, "Gary is playing awfully well. Outside of that, I don't know who could take the title. There are so many."

Trevino, winner of the U.S. Open in 1968, said: "I've spent about seven hours practicing putting since I got here. I've done it not only on the practice green but even on the hotel carpet. I've worked really hard for this one. The man who hits a straight off the tee and putts well will win this one."

Trevino had a one-under-par 70 in practice over Royal Lytham and St. Annes Links — stretching 6,848 yards.

Moody has had a par 71 and a 68 and remarked, "The three to watch are Player, Casper and Trevino."

Casper had a par 71 in practice. Player a one-under-par 70. Tony Jacklin of England, who plays the U.S. circuit, had a 71.

Mets To Get Chance To Put Pressure On Cubs

... SIX-GAME SHOWDOWN SERIES STARTS TODAY BETWEEN CONTENDERS

New York (AP) — For the first time in their eight-year history, the New York Mets find themselves involved in a real, live pennant race. They trail the Chicago Cubs by only five games and play the same Cubs six times in the next 10 days.

The three-game series that opens this afternoon at Shea Stadium finds the Mets' fans on the verge of hysteria. To be this close to the leader in July, after years of ninth and 10th-place finishes, is a wonderful, new experience.

Jerry Koosman, 5-5, a late bloomer this year after a slow start due to arm trouble, will pitch the opener for the Mets against the Cubs' big winner, Fergy Jenkins, 11-5. The Wednesday night pairing is Tom Seaver, 13-3, the Mets' big guy, against Ken Holtzman, 10-4. In the Thursday afternoon finale it will be rookie

Gary Gentry, 8-6, for the Mets and Bill Hands, 9-7, for the Cubs.

While the Mets' front office counts the receipts from an anticipated turnout of at least 110,000 fans for the three days, the clubs will break it off for the weekend before resuming next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Wrigley Field.

The Cubs had a day off Monday to watch the raindrops roll down their hotel room windows at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Park Avenue and contemplate their double-header defeat in St. Louis Sunday. After splitting four in Montreal and losing three of four in St. Louis, their once-formidable lead has melted to five games only three on the losing side of the ledger.

"The pressure will be on them," said the veteran Ed Charles, the Mets' part-time third baseman. "This club is as loose as could be. They'll be feeling the heat. We'll just play our natural game."

Donn Clendenon, the big first baseman who was acquired from Montreal recently, said: "The Cub games are just another series. You just go out there and do your best. We'll put nine men out there and give them hell."

It won't be just another series for the Mets' fans. Each of the day games is expected to draw at least 30,000 and the Wednesday night game will be over the 50,000 mark.

Bud Harrelson, the Mets' shortstop, still is away in the armed service, so Al Weis will take his place. Ken Boswell probably will be at second and Wayne Garrett at third against the right-handed Jenkins. If Ed Kranepool's back permits he will be at first. Otherwise, it will be Clendenon. Cleon Jones, the league's leading hitter at .354 will be in left field with Tommie Agee in center and Art Shamsky in right.

Leo Durocher is expected to play Jim Hickman, the ex-Met, in right against the left-handed Koosman. Billy Williams in left and rookie Don Young in center probably will be the others. The regular infield is set with Ernie Banks at first, a red-hot Glenn Beckert at second, Don Kessinger at short and Ron Santo, the RBI leader with 74, at third base. Most observers consider Kessinger the most improved Cub and a likely All-Star Game starter for the National League.

The Cubs sent rookie Dave Lemonds, a lefty pitcher, home to have his arm checked out, but he may be back.

HOWARD HOMERS PACE NATS

Senators Win 10th In Last 13

... BOSOX DROP DETROIT

By Associated Press

Frank Howard's 31st and 32nd home runs backed the perfect relief pitching of Casey Cox and swept the Washington Senators to a 7-2 victory over Cleveland Monday night.

Mike Epstein contributed his 20th homer to the Washington attack and Cox retired all 20 batters he faced after taking over for starter Jim Shellenback in the third inning as the Senators stormed to their 10th victory in the last 13 games.

Boston downed Detroit 7-2 behind Ray Culp's six-hitter and the slugging of George Scott, who rammed two triples and a single and scored the Red Sox' first three runs.

Left Handers Gary Peters pitched a two-hitter for his first triumph since June 18 as the Chicago White Sox blanked Oakland 2-0 at Milwaukee. It was the fourth straight loss for the Athletics and the sixth victory in seven transplanted home games for Chicago.

Rich Reese's leadoff homer and Chuch Manuel's two-run pinch single in the eighth gave the Minnesota Twins a 6-5 victory over Kansas City, extending their winning streak to four games and their American League Western Division lead over Oakland to three.

Losing pitcher Jim Rooker hit two homers for the Royals.

In the only daytime action in the majors, Houston's Don Wilson checked San Francisco on six hits and struck out 14 in an 8-2 victory over the Giants.

Rain washed out the St. Louis-Philadelphia and Montreal-Pittsburgh night games.

On the West Coast, California was at Seattle, Cincinnati at San Diego and Atlanta at Los Angeles.

Bob Tolan's tie-breaking single keyed a three-run seventh-inning rally and the Cincinnati Reds defeated San Diego 5-3 for their sixth consecutive victory over the struggling Padres.

Namath's Retirement Places Rookie In Main Jet Stream

... CHAMPS OPEN CAMP TODAY

New York (AP) — With the retired Joe Namath still in California making a movie, rookie quarterback Al Woodall figures to be an important factor in the New York Jets' rookie camp opening today.

Woodall, former Duke passer who played with the Richmond Roadrunners in the Atlantic Coast Football League last year, is expected to get together with the Jets on contract terms in a day or two.

Namath apparently still is determined to give up football rather than bow to the ruling of Pete Rozelle, pro football commissioner, that he must dispose of his interest in his New York bar. No new meetings with Rozelle have been scheduled.

The Jets' three-deep squad list still shows Namath as the No. 1 quarterback. Retired or not, he is not due in camp at Hofstra University until Sunday night at 5 p.m., CDT, with the other veterans.

Weeb Ewbank, coach-general manager of the Jets, expects 20 rookies and free agents and about 15 veterans to report by Tuesday night. Wednesday will be picture day, and work will start in earnest with two-a-day sessions Thursday.

The Jets will be the first club to go to work officially, although several clubs have had rookies in for an indoctrination period. The Jets must prepare to play the College All-Stars Aug. 1 in Chicago, as reigning world champions of pro football.

Dave Foley, the 6-foot-5, 255-pound Ohio State tackle who was the top draft choice, will be in camp only until Thursday because he must join the other collegians for the All-Star Game against his future teammates.

Lee White, a running back who was the top draft a year ago, and Steve Thompson, a defensive end who was the second-round pick in 1968, will be among the veterans reported early. White was injured in the season opener at Kansas City and did not return to action. Thompson was hurt in the rookie game after three weeks of camp and did not rejoin the club until late in the season.

Among the other veterans to come out early are Bill Rademacher and Jerry Zawadzka, ends; Jeff Richardson and Sam Walton, offensive tackles; Karl Henke and Ray Hayes, defensive tackles; Mike Stromberg, John Neidert and Gary Magner, linebackers; John Dickey, Mike D'Amato, and Jim Richards, defensive backs, and Earl Christy, runback specialist.

It will be the second year for the Jets at Hofstra. They trained at Peckskill Military Academy for five years until 1968.

Among the newcomers will be Ken Meyer, new receiver coach who replaced Clive Rush, now head coach at Boston, and Homer Edington, new director of player personnel, who replaced George Sauer, Sr., now with

Six Of State's Top Ten Entered In Amateur Meet

Norfolk — Six of the top 10 golfers in the running for the outstanding Nebraska Amateur Golfer trophy have entered this year's Nebraska Men's State Amateur Golf Tournament to be played at the Norfolk Country Club July 16-19.

The state tourney is the second of four tournaments used to select the winner of the trophy given by Golf Courses, Inc., a golf course construction company owned by Dick Watson of Lincoln and Henry Hughes of Denver.

The six are Frank Rose, who leads the trophy standings at this point, Al Blessing, Mike Wilson, Jerry Overgaard, Jim White and defending champion Charlie Borner.

Missing from the entry list that closes at 6 p.m. Wednesday are Rick Schultz of Omaha, Jim Traill of Holdrege, Chuck Sweetman of Lincoln who is now living in Dallas and Matt Taber of Lincoln.

The entry list numbered 85 names Monday, according to Don Stern, secretary of the sponsoring Nebraska Amateur Golf Association, who must receive entries by Wednesday's deadline. Entries are available at most golf courses.

A newcomer to the Nebraska golf scene, who will be a strong challenger for the title is Bill Feahan, a former Iowa Amateur and Iowa Masters champion.

Feahan defeated eight-time state champion Bob Astleford Sunday in the Omaha Publinks.

Major Announcement Slated On Medical Care Thursday

Washington (AP) — President Nixon's secretary of health, education and welfare suddenly canceled a speech-making trip to Boston Monday to work on a major medical care announcement the White House said it will make Thursday.

Clearing away the somewhat mysterious air surrounding the sudden switch in plans of Robert H. Finch the White House said in view of Nixon's round-the-world trip he wants to expedite proposals in the field of medical care costs, welfare and higher education.

Nixon is going to Romania and on to the Far East starting July 22 and he will be gone through Aug. 3.

Hancock Agent Strike Causes Few Problems

The district manager of the John Hancock Insurance Co. in Lincoln said Monday that his office had not yet run into any "real problems," in the face of an insurance agents strike which began late last week.

The nationwide strike of John Hancock agents affects about 50 agents located in Lincoln and Omaha.

District Manager Glen E. Tyrrell said he felt that there were "no local issues" involved in the dispute, which began when negotiations broke off between the Insurance Workers International Union and the Hancock national office in Boston.

Tyrrell said his office had run into few problems so far, and that any claims or problems would be handled by the office staff or by three local agents who reportedly remained on the job.

Washington (AP) — President Nixon's secretary of health, education and welfare suddenly canceled a speech-making trip to Boston Monday to work on a major medical care announcement the White House said it will make Thursday.

There was no indication from Ziegler when announcements would be forthcoming on any topics other than medical care. Ziegler said he wouldn't want to say the acceleration would lead to final announcements or decisions on all subjects before Nixon leaves.

Finch had planned to spend two days in Boston, including a news conference and a speech to the World Health Organization.

First public word that he would not make the trip was given by a WHO spokesman to newsmen waiting at Logan International Airport for the secretary to arrive. The spokesman quoted a telegram from Finch's press secretary saying Finch was cancelling his appearances "to accelerate submission of domestic programs in which his department is involved."

Dispatched Egeburg Finch dispatched in his place Dr. Roger O. Egeburg, who has been nominated as assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs.

Earlier, the White House confirmed an accurate account a Life magazine article by Theodore White saying

The Union College professor will use his grant to study full-time at the University of Nebraska and travel to South America. He will be writing his thesis on "Byron's Influence in Latin America."

Griffiths has been a member of the Union College faculty since July, 1965.

Finch was Nixon's first choice for the vice presidential nomination last year but turned it down.

Ziegler said Finch was among the candidates considered for the vice presidential spot after Nixon won the presidential nomination at the Miami convention.

White said Finch told Nixon he "could be a better friend and adviser than a running mate."

Senate Kills Proposed Farm Subsidy Ceiling

Washington (AP) — The Senate rejected Monday moves to limit farm subsidy payments to individual producers as it passed a $7.6 billion Agriculture Department appropriation bill.

Included in the measure was an appropriation of $750 million for the food stamp program — the full amount authorized by separate legislation previously passed by the Senate but not yet acted on by the House.

The House included in the bill a $20,000 ceiling on government payments to farmers for not planting crops, but the Senate, in a victory for the administration, sustained its Appropriations Committee in striking out this limitation. The vote was 53-34.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., led the fight against limiting payments made by the government to keep acreage out of production with the argument: "In this world you

72 Vietnam Vets Get Training For Law Enforcement

Seventy-two returned Vietnam war veterans are receiving on-the-job training in Nebraska as law enforcement personnel under the G.I. Bill, State Veterans Affairs Director James C. Smith reported Monday.

The Omaha Police Department has 34, and the Lincoln Police Department has 15 such veterans in training as policemen, and the State Patrol has 23 patrolmen in training under the program.

The police departments and Patrol were recently approved for the training program, Smith said.

As state approval agency for the Veterans Administration, the State Department of Veterans Affairs also has 305 other firms approved in Nebraska, with a total of 615 veterans learning various skilled trades under the on-the-job and apprenticeship training program.

The veterans receive the normal training wage from the employer plus a starting training allowance from the veterans administration ranging from $80 to $100 per month.

13 County Value Recommendations Told

Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil announced his property valuation recommendations for 13 southwestern and south-central Nebraska counties Monday.

In all but one of the counties, he proposed to increase rural real estate values in amounts ranging from 6% for Hayes County, to 94% in Dawson County.

The counties listed Monday will be given a chance to contest the changes at a public hearing in North Platte July 14.

Earlier, McNeil made public his assessment recommendations for panhandle and sandhills counties, which are being offered hearing opportunities Thursday and Friday at Scottsbluff and Hyannis, respectively.

GIs Talk Of Buddies And Of Coming Home

Dong Tam, South Vietnam (UPI) — As the 814 American troops whiled away their last hours in the war zone, they talked of buddies being left behind and about what to expect upon arriving in the United States on Tuesday.

"We assume and we hope the people will be out there cheering, not throwing bottles," said Sgt. Joe Cardone, 21, of the Bronx, in New York City.

"We all feel, though, like we might get our purple hearts back in the states."

These are the men of the 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry, 2nd Brigade, with four Medal of Honor winners the most decorated unit of the 9th Infantry Division in Vietnam. The battalion is the first unit to be withdrawn from Vietnam under President Nixon's order to reduce the U.S. commitment to the war by 25,000 men.

Although the battalion has been in the Mekong Delta combat zone for more than two years, 80% of its members have been transferred to other units remaining in Vietnam because they had less than 10 months in the war zone.

They were replaced with 656 troops who had completed at least 10 months in Vietnam with other units. Only 158 of those returning are veterans of the 3rd Battalion.

"When our company heard the news, we thought we were all going out," said Cardone, one of the veterans. "Then about five days later, they told us only the real short-timers. The company was really let down. It was the lowest morale I've seen since I've been here."

The battalion spent its last night in Vietnam Monday aboard two naval ships in the My Tho River off Dong Tam, the division's Mekong Delta base 37 miles from Saigon.

The troops were lifted by helicopter Tuesday morning to the Capital, from where they will begin the 18-hour flight to McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash.

One of those who was reassigned and will stay behind, Lt. Harold Hector of Boston, came to say goodbye to some members of his former unit.

"Those are some of my buddies," Hector said. "The rest are mail clerks, guys from the mess, rear echelon types. And now I've got another seven months in the field."

Hector was reassigned from the division's 2nd to its 3rd Brigade. Only the 1st and 2nd Brigades are to be withdrawn by Aug. 2.

The 3rd Brigade will stay on in the Mekong Delta, where U.S. intelligence reports indicate Communist forces are preparing a new offensive to test the strength of South Vietnamese army units and the reduced American forces.

The battalion withdrew from the field and assembled here eight days ago. Since then, their only duty has been close order drill.

"It was some job to bring men who are used to wading through rice paddies back in to parade marching trim," said Lt. Col. Peter B. Peterson of Arlington, Va. "But the battalion's sergeants have done the job."

Not all of the sergeants were enthused about the job, however. And it certainly wasn't popular duty with the troops.

"Eight days of drill . . . I don't see the need for it," said Sgt. Thomas Clemens, 22, of Minneapolis. "We will shape up when we get back anyway."

Cardone put it another way: "And now, we're going home to parade."

NBC Reports Increases For 1st Half Of '69

National Bank of Commerce Trust and Savings' June 30, 1969 figures released by Glenn Yaussi, chairman of the board, showed that loans increased to $83,224,000, an increase of $6,452,000 over June 30, 1968, while deposits totaled $125,936,000, compared to $115,447,000 a year ago. Total assets June 30, 1969 were $149,930,000 against $133,123,000 in 1968.

Yaussi stated "the first half of 1969 was an excellent first half for the bank, but the increasing tight money situation was beginning to be reflected in the day-to-day operations of the bank, affecting the total deposit picture, whereas the demand for loans, while still high, will be more difficult to satisfy."

"This will make the remainder of 1969 a challenge to NBC to maintain its desire to continue to assist business and industry in Lincoln, and throughout Nebraska, to expand, to make the necessary loans needed to keep our economy growing," he said.

Net operating earnings per share as of June 30, 1969 were $1.89, compared to $1.53 in 1968, according to Yaussi. Yaussi further commented that NBC has paid interest earnings to its depositors of $1,366,633 in the first half of 1969.

Four Children Drown In Sewer

Keokuk, Iowa (UPI) — Four children playing in a park creek here Monday afternoon were swept into a storm sewer and drowned.

They were identified as Steve, 7, and Randy Pagitt, 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Pagitt, Keokuk, and Sheri, 7, and Steve Wardlow, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wardlow Jr.

It had been raining throughout the afternoon. The sewer opening into the Mississippi River, normally visible, was covered by high waters of the river, which was nearing flood stage in the southeast Iowa town.

General Motors Advises Check Of '69 Wagons

Detroit (UPI) General Motors Monday advised 20,000 owners of 1969 station wagons equipped with dual-acting tailgates to return their vehicles to dealers for inspection and possible installation of a small filler plate that may have been omitted in production.

GM said that if the filler plate is missing, dust and possibly small quantities of exhaust fumes could enter the interior of the vehicles.

If missing filler plates need to be installed, it will be done at no charge, GM said.

Notification letters were sent to 17,166 Chevrolet and 3,034 Pontiac station wagon owners.

Stock Market Finishes

New York (AP) — The technical rally which buoyed the stock market last week ran into reported profit taking Monday and the market drifted to a loss.

The decline followed four straight sessions of advance.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which picked up 16.36 points last week after losing nearly 100 points in the previous six weeks, closed the day down 2.91 at 883.21.

Natamap, up a total of 25 1/2 last week, lost 6 1/2 to close at 116 1/2. It was the 10th most active issue on the New York Stock Exchange. Reading & Bates Offshore Drilling, a 7 1/2 gainer last week, and IBM,

Cattle Prices Decline In Slow Trading

Omaha (AP) — Last week's slaughter cattle price recovery effort was blunted and reversed in a slow trading session at Omaha Monday.

Quality of the day's offering lacked top finish, pushing top prices well below levels otherwise indicated by the 25 to mostly 50 cent lower market call. Some few sales choice and better cattle looked as much as 75 cents lower.

Trading was very slow in developing, with most interest operating cautiously and limiting demand to immediate needs. A sluggish dressed beef trade backgrounded the slow bargaining session.

Best cattle here brought 33.75. Three loads high-choice with an end of prime scaling 1,129-1,219 lbs. earned the ticket.

Butcher hog prices took a mostly 50-cent lower turn despite moderate post-holiday marketings. Sows ruled steady to 25 cents lower.

Butchers under 240 lbs. bunched under a 26.50 practical peak, others in the group down to 25.50. Sows bunched at 21.25-25.50. Heavier weights in both classes continued scarce.

Fat lambs advanced 50 cents in moderately active bidding. Best new crop 31.00.

Bank Officials Tell Kennedy They Seek To Battle Inflation

Washington (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy met with representatives of the nation's largest banks Monday and reported afterward that they told him they are contributing to the fight on inflation by turning down large numbers of loan applicants.

Asked at a post-session news briefing if the bankers were willing to roll back the prime rate — the basic interest rate that invariably triggers other rate changes — Kennedy said the suggestion was not brought up at the meeting.

"I want to clear up something right here," Kennedy said as newsmen continued to question him about the possibility of a prime rate reduction.

"This meeting was not called to roll back the prime rate."

Kennedy and other top government economic policymakers met for more than two hours with top executive officers of nearly all of the nation's top banks.

The meeting produced a free exchange of ideas on the need to extend the 10% income tax surcharge, the problem of high interest rates and the "credit picture generally," Kennedy said. Each bank described the problem it faces and the approaches it is using in coping with inflation, Kennedy said.

Kennedy said he did not ask for pledges from the bankers to hold the line on the prime rate. There has been increasing speculation in recent weeks that the rate, which leaped June 9 from 7½% to 8½% — a record — may go still higher in the near future.

There was no talk at all about the prime rate, the Cabinet official said, although it figured indirectly in the discussion. "I told them," Kennedy said, "I didn't think interest rates alone will do the job in the present situation. They're got to have other means to say no."

Despite a telegram from Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee, contending that the meeting should be open to the press, the session was conducted behind closed doors.

Kennedy sent telegrams last Thursday inviting top executive officers of 25 major banks to the session.

The only bank without a representative present at the morning meeting was the Marine Midland Grace Trust Co. of New York.

Federal Help To Mortgage Firms Boosts Long-Term Home Loans

Sacramento, Calif. (AP) — Savings and loan institutions throughout the country will receive a big injection of long-term lending funds to make new housing loans in the tight money market. The announcement came Monday from Federal Home Loan Bank Chairman Preston Martin.

Martin said the agency will make five-year loans to its 5,000 savings and loan members for the first time since 1958. One year loans currently are available.

Martin told newsmen the bank will obtain the money by selling debentures to investors, with the first issue set at $200 million and paying 8% interest.

For the man struggling to find financing for his dream house, the move means his neighborhood savings and loan will have more money to lend him, Martin said.

But he said the interest rate will still be high.

Martin said housing loans have been at a premium because of a nationwide demand for money that has sent interest rates soaring to record highs.

With the new long-term loans available to them, Martin said, savings and loans will be freed from some of the pressure of paying back federal loans at the end of each year.

"They would feel they could carry a little more in mortgages and less in liquid assets," Martin said.

NASA Returns Space Monkey 22 Days Ahead Of Schedule

Honolulu (AP) — The space mission of astronaut monkey Bonny ended in a Pacific Ocean splashdown Monday some 22 days short of its scheduled 30 days duration.

The monkey was alive when its capsule was opened at Hickam Air Force Base here, and a check was begun of its physical condition.

Bonny's lack of response to ground orders the past few days indicated a sluggishness that caused the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to abort the mission after 8½ days.

Bonny, a 14-pound male, was sent into orbit to determine the effect of long term weightlessness on a being similar to man. NASA wanted to know if efficiency decreased and memory was impaired during a month in space.

Officials were too occupied by the early return to say immediately if the mission was a success, partial success or failure.

Bonny returned to earth in a tropical rainstorm and parachuted into the Pacific more than 100 miles beyond scheduled rendezvous in the sky with a giant Air Force C130.

The re-entry capsule was picked up within moments by helicopter and airlifted to a special biosatellite laboratory at Hickam Air Force Base, where a spokesman said it appeared to be undamaged.

The first of the interviews, with CBS news correspondent Walter Cronkite, was filmed at the LBJ ranch and will be televised July 20. A definite time periods has not been established because the interview, which is expected to run somewhat less than an hour, will be inserted within the network's continuous coverage of the Apollo 11 moon mission.

The first program will concern Johnson's contributions to the space programs as senator, vice president and president.

Frontier 737 Service Starts As Scheduled

Denver (AP) — Frontier Airlines began service on schedule Monday with its two new twinjet Boeing 737s, after a dispute with pilots was settled and a contract agreement was reached with the Air Line Pilots Association.

President E. Paul Buke said the inaugural nonstop flights between Dallas-Fort Worth and Kansas City were on schedule.

The agreement, he said, provides for pay and working conditions for a third crew member, items not covered by existing contracts.

The controversial issue of whether there should be a third crew member in the cockpit was not at issue, since this now is being considered in an airline industry — ALPA arbitration proceedings.

A decision is expected by next March 1, but Frontier said it would keep three pilots in the cockpit in the interim.

The 737s also are being used on flights serving St. Louis; Lincoln, Neb.; Denver; Phoenix; Rapid City, S.D.; and Minot, N.D., Frontier said.
